

THE ART

As an expression of the deep emotion created by the devastation, the hidden artistic nature of the people was exposed in the form of many impromptu assemblages created from the debris.

Some expressed the despair, while others spoke of the hope of reconstruction or lent sorely needed humour to the situation.

